

AGREEMENT TO USE POSTCODE LOOKUP FACILITY WITHIN PLATINUM SOFTWARE

Platinum Software may optionally access an embedded copy of the Royal Mail's Postcode Address File ("PAF®") within the software. In accordance with Royal Mail licensing terms, this information is available only to one named user on a designated terminal. A licence fee is due to Royal Mail for every terminal licensed. For this reason access to the facility is limited to only those terminals, and a named user associated with each terminal, which have been licensed in accordance with the Royal Mail terms and conditions, a copy of which are included.

This agreement must list every user to be authorised.

Licensing is based on an annual cost and review.

The PAF®-based information will be automatically updated quarterly if an Internet connection is present.

It is possible to relocate licences in the event of hardware replacement if written documentation is supplied to Catalyst listing the information required (as below) for the terminal to be removed and that to which the licence is to be applied. A licence can only be moved at the discretion of Catalyst and no more than once per licence per year.
